

Increased Support for Training

Requests for training so far this fiscal year are not meeting our projections. EST is aggressively moving to stimulate additional training activity to meet our goals. We plan to step up our efforts to reach departments that are not currently utilizing our training delivery system. Effective February 1, 2004 EST is increasing its portion of cost participation for many of our courses. Here are some examples:

- Essentials of Firefighting training will be delivered at no cost, including student manuals. We have several options available for delivery of this training. We will work with any department to help them design a program to meet their needs.
- All Haz Mat training will be delivered at no cost.
- All NFA training will be delivered at no cost.
- All Extrication training up to and including Operations level at no cost.
- All instructional materials for “In-House” Apparatus Driver/Operator training will be furnished at no cost.
- Flash-Over Survival training will be delivered at no cost. The host department must furnish the particle board used.
- EST will pay 2/3 of the cost for Technical Rescue training in the Rope, Confined Space, and Trench disciplines.

Please contact EST immediately for further information or to arrange training. We are eager to help you address your training needs.

Stay safe.

Jerry Schroeder
Program Manager
Emergency Services Training